

Response to Kennecott Copper:

1. We did consider the industrial water rights in our analysis. However, the storage rights once held by Kennecott have now been transferred to the Central Utah Water Conservancy District and were shown as such in the handout.

2. Your statement that we overlooked the water rights acquired by Kennecott from the North Jordan Irrigation Company is correct and we apologize for this error. We will update all future documents to reflect Water Right Number 59-3517.

3. In our opinion there did not seem to be a lot of issues with regards to the prior direct flow rights on the Jordan River, and thus we did not list them individually. Again it was our hope to simplify the data that had to be considered.

4. There are several issues with regards to Water Right Numbers 59-23 and 59-30, and it would be our position that the certificates and other related documents speak for themselves. We would be happy to meet with you and discuss any concerns that you may have concerning these two water rights.

FILENAME: KENCTRSP.UTL